

Pandas is a Python package providing fast, flexible, and expressive data structures designed to make working with “relational” or “labeled” data. It is the most powerful open source data analysis / manipulation tool available in any language.

License

New BSD License

Developed by

Wes McKinney

Written in

Python, Cython, C

URL

<https://pandas.pydata.org/>